Goble Studios ~ the fine art of everyday inspirations

Autumn 2010

Hello from Goble Studios!

It's wonderful to finally be enjoying the beautiful fall weather here in Pennsylvania. This is my favorite time of year for many reasons: the cooler weather, changing colors, pumpkins, looking ahead to putting the lawn mower away, and now the coming addition of a birthday. Steve and I are eagerly anticipating the birth of our first child at the end of October, and are making all the preparations necessary for that celebration. Amidst all the planning, I've also enjoyed being busy with Goble Studios over the summer. Please read on for a taste of what's been happening, and what's coming up!

New Work

Glass Vase in Rose

watercolor

6"x 9 1/2"

Ruger graphite 5"x 7"

I had the pleasure of meeting and drawing Ruger, a friendly Yellow Labrador. Her portrait was a gift for her owners.

Between projects, I was glad to have the opportunity to work on murals for the nursery. We chose creation/nature highlights for the room, not only because we enjoy it, but because we desire that our daughter will find wonder in it too.

Exhibits

Art Institute and Gallery 19th Annual National Juried Exhibition

My watercolor titled Campfire III was one of 44 artworks accepted into this exhibit out of 295 entries. This exhibit features a variety of mediums by artists across the country, and is one of their strongest (meaning most varied, talented, professional) shows, according to the gallery director whom we met at delivery. Although I wasn't able to attend the opening reception, I had the opportunity to view much of the artwork beforehand, and am certainly thankful to have been accepted into such an exhibit the first time I entered. If you plan to be in the area, or just want to take a drive for fresh crabs and beaches, I invite you to visit the gallery while you're there.

Events and Opportunities

Art in the Home 2010

Please join us this year for Art in the Home, an annual event of amazing art, good food, and great company. Several artist friends will be displaying their artwork, which includes pottery, watercolors, fine graphite work, greeting cards, and possibly glasswork. Some details still need to be addressed but, as usual, admission and food is free, and art is for sale. This year's event is slated for Sunday, December 5th. I will post more information on <http://www.dianegoblefineart.com> and Facebook as it is available, and will be mailing out postcards closer to the date.

Thank you to everyone who supported Goble Studios and the Schreiber Pediatric Rehab Center of Lancaster County by purchasing raffle tickets for a chance to win Duckie Dress Up, a framed original watercolor that I painted for this year's festival. Due to the festival being cancelled because of heavy rain and tornado warnings, the raffle continued through August. Overall, the fundraiser was a success!

Congratulations to the winner, Rod Redcay!

I recently had the privilege to be interviewed by 'The Ephrata Review', a local newspaper, and the article about my work with Goble Studios was printed in the July 14th edition. To read the article, please visit the 'in the news' page on dianegoblefineart.com, or click on the link below.
